By allowing Questar to prevail with their request, it would be sad and unfair for those home owners that have not been able to take advantage of the weatherization program to have to pay for something that many others were able to obtain for free, especially when all of us have equally contributed to the fund. This program needs to continue as is until all of the home owners that want to participate have. Questar should continue with their current rate plan long after this program has reached its usefulness until such time that they have recovered their cost.

The same should go for Rocky Mountain Power. Fair is fair.
